

On a blissful weather – from atop the mahogany tree – I steal a view of the ocean and watch the racing tortoises and dolphins as I hang topsy-turvy.

On rainy days, I hear the howling winds as I cling to tree branches that sway furiously. I have also witnessed the hurricane make a name for itself as it hurls like crazy.

L. MARINE